My goal and plans in making a website is to create an informative website that contains different kinds of styles and fashion that can help a lot of people, to showcase my skill in creating a website by using HTML and applying CSS Style. The website will serve as a platform to highlight my learning expertise in web development. By exploring HTML and applying CSS Style inspired me to create a website that's not only appealing but also informative and functional across different devices. Creating this website is aimed to those who are interested in fashion.

Using HTML and styling it with CSS ensure that the website is accessible and visually appealing in different devices. Including an interactive element, enabling others to reach out directly for more information. With this knowledge, I aim to apply it in creating a professional website effectively.
